LOCAL MISCELLANY.

IRVING DUER EXPELLED.

There was much interest taken by the members of the Staten Island Cricket Club in the special meeting which took place at the club-house yesterday sternoon. The meeting was called to consider the report of a committee consisting of William Krebs and George S. Scofield, Jr., appointed to investigate the charge of their against Irving Duer, a member of the club and a student at the Columbia Law School, of which an account appeared in The Tribune last week. It was believed that the undoubted desire exhibited by some prominent members of the club to shield the young man might result in the acceptance of his resignation, and a large number of members determined to vote for his expulsion were present. The proceedings, however, were entirely harmonous. After preliminary business the committee presented its report. Mr. Scofield, as spokesman, declared that as regarded the loss of Mr. Pim's watch the committee had been unable to obtain any communication from Duer. In regard to Mr. Davidge's loss of $75, however, the culprit's confession and restitution of the stolen money were sufficient evidence of his guilt, and the committee, therefore, presented two resolutions: First, that Irving Duer's resignation be not accepted; and second, that he be expelled from the club. Both were adopted unanimously. There was no discussion. In conversation with a Tribune reporter one of the members said: "We all feel keenly the blow which has been struck at the club's reputation, but though! for one feel no sort of pity for the young scamp. I feared that some of the members might be induced for social reasons to vote for the acceptance of his resignation. I am glad, however, that the in my opinion eminently proper course we have taken was taken without a dissenting voice. I am of course sorry for his mother, if she should ever come to hear of her son's disgrace, which has a yet, I believe, been carefully concealed from her; and I am sorry, too, that the name of the Staten Island Cricket Club has been connected in any IRVING DUER EXPELLED.

HOW CARROLL SOLD THE COUPONS.

The special committee of the Board of Aldermen continued yests rday its investigation of the coupon frands. Edward Morrison, a banker of No. 56 Wallst, testified in part as follows:

In the spring of 1879 a young man giving the name of A. C. Bennett came to my office and offered some city bonds for sale; previous to this time he had frequently sold us coupons from city bonds as well as specie; this was during the year 1879; before purchasing the coupons from city bonds as well as specie; this was during the year 1879; before purchasing the coupons I sent up to the Controller's office to ascertain whether they were all right; I received a reply that they were genuine, and after that did not hesitate to cash them, paying for them in bank notes; at the beginning the value of the coupons presented did not exceed $100, but afterward the amounts were increased, so that frequently there were batches of coupons to the amount of $1,000 presented; I did not suspect that there was anything wrong about the matter, as the coupons were always cashed without question at the Coutonler's office; I supposed that Bennett was an agent of an estate; I have seen a photograph of Carroll, and fully identify him as the customer Bennett.

JUSTICE GARDNER KISSED IN COURT.

J. J. Madden, alias Gibson, was arrested on April 30 on the complaint of his employers, Muser Brothers, importers of lace, who charged him with stealing lace valued at about $24,000. Madden admitted his guilt, and sand that he had sold the goods for about $3,000 to Mr. and Mrs. Grodzinsky, deslers in second-hand clothing, through their daughter, Mrs. Lewis, who was arrested. She said that she had sold the goods to Mrs. Julia Miller, a dealer in laces at No. 148 Fifth-ave. Mrs. Miller was then arrested and held in default of bail, and n civil action was also begun against her. The total amount of bail saked for was $25,000, which she was unable to procure. Yesterday afternoon Colonel Spencer appeared in the Jefferson Market Police Coart to plead for Mrs. Miller's discharge, which Justice Gardner granted, Mrs. Miller's cousin endeavored to embrace Colonel Spencer, but he waved her away. She then bore down on Justice Gardner and impressed a kiss on his beard where she supposed his mouth was, and then bounded off to thank some one clse.

RETURN OF MAYOR EDSON.

Mayor Edson returned from Chester, Vt., yesterday. He enjoyed his trip greatly. In conversation he stated that the nomination of General Alexander Shaler for president of the Health Board would not be withdrawn. "General Shaler will have to take his chances with the Board of Aldermen," he added with a smile. The Mayor added that if the Controller came into town to-day there would probably be a meeting of the Mayor, Controller and president of the Board of Aldermen, and they would appoint the Brooklyn Bridge trustees.

There will probably be a meeting of the Croton Aqueduct Commission to-day in the Mayor's office. It is possible that the Commission may organize without waiting for the return of George W. Lane from Europe.

TRIPS OF THE BRITANNIC AND ALASKA.

For four days shipping and other mercantile circles have been excited over rumors set affoat that W. H. Vanderbit bad made a heavy wager that the White Star steamship Britannic would beat the Alaska to New-York. The Britannic was built at an earlier period than the Alaska, and therefore the latter has the benefit of fairer improvements in naval architecture, steam power, etc. The rumors were strengthened by the fact that Mr. Vanderbit was a passenger on the Britannic, and that she sailed less than au hour after the Alaska from Queenstown. The Alaska arrived on Sunday in 7 days, 2 hours and 15 minutes, and the Britannic arrived only a few hours afterward, making the trip in 7 days, 15 hours and 2 minutes. Had they met with fine weather all the way both vessels would have shortened their time materially, but there was only one fine day, and that on Wednesday last, when the Britannic made 403 mites. SECOND TRIAL OF JOHN DEVOY. SECOND TRIAL OF JOHN DEVOY.

The second trial of John Devoy, the editor of The Irish Nation, who is charged with having hiselled August Belmont, was begun yesterday in the Court of General Sessions. The first trial resulted in the disagreement of the jury. The defendant refused to answer questions put to him on his first trial and was committed by Judge Cowing for contempt of Court. He acted as his own lawyer yesterday and objected to proceeding before Judge Cowing on the ground that there might be a prejudice against him. The objection was overruled. The case for the prosecution lasted only a few minutes, as Mr. Devoy acknowledged the writing of the article, published in September, 1882, accusing Mr. Belmont of an improper use of trust fands.

MR. CAPPA REPLIES TO MR. JOYCE. In an article on "Trouble over Park Music" that ppeared in The Tribune on Saturday, Thomas H. oyce made the statement that C. A. Cappa had eat men to Contral Park, on June 2, to take down the names of any members of his band that might take part in the concert. This Mr. Cappa denies. He says:

He says:

Iemphatically say that it is not true. I did not authorize any of my band to go there, and what is more I was not there myself. I never forbade any of my men to play with Mr. Joyce, but I know for a fact that he asked several of my band to play with him, and that they refused. As for my trying to persecute Mr. Joyce or to mix him up with his brother, I don't know either of them, and, what is more, I never thought it worth my while to trouble myself about them in any way. It is true that I made an application to furnish music in the Park, but I am not disappointed in not getting it, because, while waiting for the Park Commissioners to decide, I signed a contract for my band to go to Louisville for two montus to play at the Southern Exposition, which opens on August 1.

CHINAMEN ON AN EXCURSION.

One of the most curious excursions that have been made up the Hudson of late years left the United States Barge-Office at 8 o'clock yeasterday morning, when the pupils of the Chinese Sabbathschools of this city took a large party of their teachers and friends up to Iona Island on board the boat Long Branch. There were $50 passengers, of whom 300 were Chinese. Among the company was a Chinese orchestra of nine musicians' and as zoon as the boat got well out they settled themselves down on the after part of the saloon deck, and proceeded to show to the astonished gaze of the rest of the passengers, who arranged themselves on a row of benches all round, their store of strange instruments. These gave the sdea of having been made out of any old odds and ends of sticks and strings that happened to come handy. The musicians themselves called their weapons "Samhiens," "Yeshiens," "Ectcheis," "Koos," "Pankoos," "Lows" and such hard names, but to the uninitiated they looked very like incomplete banjos, primitive clarineis, a drum that had been made out of an old barrel and a sheepskin, a gong or two 2nd a travesty on a fiddle, composed of two strings stetched along a croquet mallet. The entertainment was a portion of a Chinese opera, but one man sang all the parts. The performance latsed nearly the whole way to the island, only interrupted by the unreheared breaking of a fiddle-string which could be ill-afforded, seeing that the instrument had only two to start with. It was a wonderfully orderly party for an excursion steamer, and what noise there was on board was made entirely by the American passengers, for the Chinese took their pleasure sadly, and either instended quietly to the music or looked at the view in a mild-eyed melancholy way. But as soon as the destination was reached they woke up. Before the whole of the passengers had time to get ashore, they had scattered themselves among the trees, taking violent possession of the tables and benches, which were immediately covered with lunch b CHINAMEN ON AN EXCURSION.

Police Justice Smith said yesterday that he thought a magistrate should have a discretionary right to commit a witness where there was good ground for fear that the witness might disappear. He said that he had never committed witnesses who had homes at which they might be found when needed, or who appeared to be responsible persons. Chief Clerk Donnelly, of the District-Attorney's office, said that no greater difficulty than usual had been felt in finding witnesses. Assistant District-Attorney O'Byrne thought that the only result of the new law would be to make witnesses appear more readily, as there was no dauger of their imprisonment.

"JERRY" McAULEYS WINDOW SHUTTER.
When the building occupied by the Cremorne Mission, in West Phirty-second-st., was creeted nearly eighteen months ago. "Jerry" McAuley had a window cut through the upper wall on the side next to "Al" Adams's cigar store. Mr. McAuley obtained permission to put in the window from Robert J. Livingsion, the owner of the adjoining property. Last Saturday Mr. Adams caused a shutter to be placed against the window from the outside, thus completely darkening the room. Mr. McAuley naturally resented this infringement of his rights, and yesterday he began legal steps for the removal of the offending shutter. In conversation with a Tribune reporter yesterday, Mr. McAuley said: JERRY" MCAULEY'S WINDOW SHUTTER.

Auley said:

"Al' Adams has been for some time running a gambling hell in the room over his cigar store. At night the ventilator on the roof is onened, and Adams thought that I saw too much through the offending window. His gambling place has a notorious name and it ought to be closed, but the police seem unwilling to do mything about it. A dozen or fitteen young fellows may be seen almost any night hanging around the front of the building and making themselves obnoxious to the passers by."

The first number of a new pager called "Jerry McAuley's Newspaper" has recently appeared. It is a bright tooking sheet, containing four well-filled pages of matter relating to the work of the Cremorne Mission. The first edition of 2,000 copies is hearly exhausted.

CAREFUL TO AVOID A COLLISION.

If there had not been the greatest precaution observed on Saturday, when the steamship City of Rome grounded in Gedney's Channel, there would have been a disastrous collision. A dense fog prevailed at the time that the City of Rome went aground, and among the fleet of outgoing steamers were the Egypt, City of Paris, Devonia, Belgenland, De Ruyter, Bohemia, Tyrian, Geiser, thein, Ludgate Hill, Japanese and Saratoga, all of which sailed at nearly the same hour. When the City of Rome grounded she did not obstruct the channel, for there was plenty of room for the others to pass outside of her by porting their helms. Captain Munro not only kept the whistles blowing on the City of Rome, but had his officers stationed at various parts of the vessel to call to approaching vessels: "Port your helm! we're aground!" This extra caution prevented any scrious disaster, which must have occurred had any carelessness been observed. CAREFUL TO AVOID A COLLISION.

THE BIBLE OF THE BAPTISTS.

THE BIBLE OF THE BAPTISTS.

The Baptist preachers yesterday discussed the results of the Saratoga Convention and the Bible version to be published and distributed. The Rev. Dr. Armitage said that the Baptist denomination had declared it to be their duty to give the Word of God, faithfully translated, to all men. Inasmuch as there existed among American Baptists differences of opinion as to the fidelity of the English versions, each person might select either the commonly received version, the Anglo-American version, generally known as the Canterbury version, or the American Bible Union version, which substitutes "immersion" for "baptism." The Philadelphia American Bible Society, he said, asked for $30,000, and thought that 30,000 copies of the Bible could be distributed wisely and intelligently during the next year. The Rev. Dr. W. W. Everts advocated the American Bible Union version.

Owing to the failure of the Mayor, Controller and President of the Board of Aldermen to appoint Bridge trustees to succeed those whose terms expired on June 1, no meeting of the trustees was held yesterday, the day for the regular June meeting. Acting under the instructions of W. C. Kingsley, who was vice-president of the old body of trustees, Secretary Quintard sent notices on Saturday to the newly appointed Brooklyn trustees and to those from New-York, who hold over until their successors are appointed, that no meeting would be held. As soon as the secretary is officially informed of the appointment of New-York trustees, a special meeting to elect officers and transact other business will be called.

ULCEROUS "At the age of two years one of my children was terribly afflicted with nicerous running seres on SORES its face and neck. At the same time its eyes were swellen, much inflamed and very sore.

SORE EYES Physicians told us that a powerful alternative medicine must be employed. They united in recommending AYER'S SARSAFARILLA. A few doese procedured a percentile improvement, which by an adherence produced a perceptible improvement, which, by an adherence to your directions, was continued to a complete and perma-neut cure. No evidence has since appeared or the existence of any scrofulous tendencies; and no treatment of any dis-order was ever attended by more prompt or effectual results.
